Methodists Get New District Superintendent; Tuttle Returned Here

The Rev. G. Richard Tuttle was returned as pastor of the Methodist church here in the bishop's appointments last Saturday at the Rock River conference in Naperville.

Dr. Weldon Bradburn, district superintendent, who recently held quarterly conference here at the time of the ground breaking for the addition to the Antioch church, completed his term as district superintendent and was assigned to the Morgan Park church.

The Rev. Ray Bond, pastor of the Morgan Park church, was made district superintendent.

Zion gets a new pastor in the Rev. Clarence Plooch, who replaces Carl G. Mettling, sent to Barrington. Mr. Plooch comes to Zion from Olivet Methodist church in Chicago.

A resolution introduced and adopted by the conference by Dr. Thomas Pender, Waukegan, calls for a reorganization of the administration of the church to provide for junior bishops. The request will be taken to the general conference next year in San Francisco.

Field Day Shows 4-H Members How To Keep Strong, Physically Fit

Four-H Keeping-Fit Field day attracted a crowd of 200 Lake County rural young people to the Grayslake High School in Grayslake, Illinois on Thursday, June 21, where they found out how strong and physically fit they were in relation to other young people their own age according to Ray T. Nicholas, Lake County Farm Adviser.

From 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. the 4-H Club members ran, jumped, twisted and pulled themselves and were tested so that each one would know how healthy he actually is. They also learned at the same time how to keep themselves physically fit and how to make themselves stronger and more healthy individuals.

First, the youngsters were weighed and measured, and pulse rates checked. Then they ran 60 yards to check their speed, and to learn how promptly their heart beat returned to normal.

"Sit-ups," broad jump and "arm pull" exercises tested their muscular strength, front and back bends checked their body flexibility and running a zig-zag course determined their agility. Finally, they ran 600 yards to find out how much endurance they had.

The field day tests were conducted by D. M. Hall, extension specialist at the University of Illinois, assisted by Dale Patterson, U. of Illinois wrestling coach, and a physical fitness specialist from the University.

More than twenty-five parents of the 4-H Club members were also present to watch the activity. Twenty-five local 4-H Club leaders attended.

"This day was an important milestone in the lives of the youths who took part," said Ray Nicholas, farm adviser, because it gave them scores which indicated how fit they were. But it was not important unless those who took part now increase their training in order that they may be in better condition next year.

New Coddington Store Attracts Thousands on Days of Grand Opening

Between 2,500 and 3,000 persons visited the new Coddington hardware store at Rtes. 173 and 59 last Friday and Saturday on the occasion of the grand opening.

The good will of the community was expressed in the forty-six bouquets the Coddingtons received from business men, wholesale dealers and their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Coddington, the owners, expressed their great appreciation for the many expressions of good will and the calls from the people of the community.

Happiest among the visitors was young David Soneck, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer of Channel lake who received a bicycle as a gift. The youngster, dancing for joy, mounted his bicycle in the umph while the crowd looked on in laughter and tears.

Today the Coddington hardware store like other stores in Antioch is enjoying a good business and more people are being attracted to Antioch to do their trading than going elsewhere.

Wilnot Again Defeats Antioch Veterans in Wild Game 19 to 12

In a free hitting and scoring game, Wilnot defeated the Antioch V. F. W. baseball team here Sunday 19 to 12.

Wilnot augmented her scoring with three home runs, two by M. Jahns and one by Haase, two outfielders. Haase scored four runs on three hits appearing five times at bat.

D. Scott's ability to get on base though hitless, provided for three of Antioch's scores.

Olsen gave way to Pregenzer at the end of five innings after Wilnot had collected nine hits. The visitors clubbed Pregenzer even harder and he left the mound before the end of a third inning with 13 hits and 9 runs chalked against him. Riddel finished the game holding Wilnot to 1 hit.

Antioch appeared well on the way to winning the game through two big innings. The Vets scored six in the third to give them a 7 to 2 lead, and after Wilnot tied the score in their half of the seventh, the Antioch Vets came back strong, knocking Benedict out of the box with three runs and added two more on Richards offerings.

Wilnot found Pregenzer's pitching to their liking and score 12 runs in two innings to sew up the game.

Mrs. William Keulman's Night Blooming Cereus Blossoms for Third Year

A thrill that she was able to share with but few persons came to Mrs. William Keulman of 913 Main st. at 7 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week when her rare plant, the night blooming cereus burst into blossom.

The bloom remains open about two hours and then withers. The cereus blossom is about the size of the lotus. It has waxy white petals, and the sepals and star-like stamens protrude from one side of the interior.

The plant, much like a small rubber plant, sends its bloom from the edge of a leaf, first sending out a stem like that of the water lily.

Mrs. Keulman got the plant about seven years ago—she doesn't remember where. When its leaves and spikes grew extremely long she took it from her upstairs apartment and placed it at the rear of the building. Suddenly it sent out a bud and she knew that a bloom was developing. The box elder bugs were eating it badly so she brought it back into her apartment.

It first bloomed three years ago. An owner of one of the plants said that it would bloom but once in seven years, but Mrs. Keulman's plant has bloomed regularly the last three years.

There is a possibility that a third bloom may grow this year. "The blooms are just beautiful," she commented. "I just wish that more people could see them, but I never know when they are going to burst forth."

Has agriculture been profiting unduly at the expense of the consumer? A great many people think that is the case, and it is a theory which has been effectively argued by distinguished economists and others. But there is another side to the coin, and it is well presented by Herschel D. Newsom, Master of the National Grange, in the June issue of Country Gentleman. Mr. Newsom's article is descriptively entitled, "The Farmer's Side Of It."

He says frankly, "All of us who live by agriculture must face the brutal facts that if a popularity poll were taken throughout the nation today, the farmer perhaps would get the lowest rating in history. More than that, he would be accused by many town and city families as a Government-supported gouger who has caused the cost of living to spiral." He admits that some farm prices are out of line and that there are flaws in the government's farm program. Then he says, "I want to say that the farmer and his programs are NOT to blame for the high cost of living which worries all of us. . . There is no villain except inflation."

Agriculture, Mr. Newsom feels, has been made a scapegoat for sins of omission and commission over which it has little or no control. It is true that there has been a very fast rise in the prices of many farm products since the Korean war began. But, he observes, "In the two years before June, 1950, the average of farm prices declined 26 per cent and this decline, which led almost to the verge of another farm-fed depression, went virtually unnoticed in the press. Most farm prices have not yet caught up with either wages or prices of industrial goods."

Mr. Newsom implements this statement with some impressive statistics. The average of farm prices still is almost 15 per cent below 1947—both corporate profits and hourly wages of factory workers are 18 per cent above level. "In 1947, he says, net farm income was $18,000,000,000. In 1949 it was $14,000,000,000, and in 1950 it was down still more to $13,000,000,000. He writes, "Last year the 20 per cent of the U. S. population that lives on the farms received only 12 per cent of the national income."

Mr. Newsom is the first to admit that serious mistakes have been made in the price-support program—such as the potato-support fiasco which stirred up so much bitter criticism some time ago. But, as a general rule, he writes, "those supports have helped to hold food prices down." Here his reasoning runs like this: government purchases have taken surplus products from market at times of unreasonably low prices. These surpluses have been held in reserve, and have been fed back into the market when prices threatened to go unreasonably high. As a consequence, he says, "Consumers have benefited as much or more than farmers from most of these programs."

Finally, Mr. Newsom feels that inflation must be fought hard on all fronts. He advocates financing rearmament on a pay-as-we-go basis, strictly limiting all government functions which do not directly further the defense effort, and sharply restricting credit for luxuries and non-essential purposes. If these measures fail to do the job, he continues, price, wage and rationing controls must be applied equally to the whole economy. In advocating this program, Mr. Newsom is largely in agreement with our leading economists.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

I been readin' where some gents choose to change our calendar—make it over complete—make all holidays come on the same day of the week, and what have you. I say it would be simpler to just make 'em all holidays. Sisters and brothers, there is some uplifting and welfare that really is welfare and uplift. If I was just a little windier than I am already windy, I kinda think I could take to the hungry lunch circuit or hop on the radio and get quite a following for my plan—"every day a holiday." I might put the Utopia Party on page 2 versus 19 years hovering around the front page, with none of the old problems yet solved but with new and heretofore undreamed of problems looming—some synthetic and without substance but sounding as if in dire need of fixing.

And whilst on "all holidays" versus little or no work, I will now come down to earth—I cannot close this epistle without a mention of the right to work, as no other right can surpass same.

The right to work for how much, where—when—and how long or for who, is not 100 per cent your right today, in 1951, in this U. S. A. The legalized closed shop—legalized violence—curb your freedom and your off-shoot's freedom and future. To date 17 states have done something about a start to protect the worker—31 other states need get off the dime.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Wrestling

N. W. A. World's heavyweight Champion Lou Thesz is coming to Round Lake Park. The popular titleholder has been signed by Promoter Fred Kohler to risk his crown against The Mighty Atlas in the outstanding mat show of the season. The match takes place Friday night, June 29th in the Lake County Stadium, Round Lake Park, Illinois.

Promoter Kohler scored an outstanding feat in bringing Thesz to his cozy outdoor arena. Promoters throughout the middlewest have tried to obtain Thesz for The Mighty Atlas. However, Lou has balked at giving his rival a 'shot' at the title. Thesz is convinced that The Mighty Atlas is too tough and for that reason he asked exorbitant terms from Kohler. The latter has met these terms and the match is on.

Kohler stands to lose money on the show as percentages and other expenses connected with a title match are so high that the Lake County Stadium does not have the seating capacity to accommodate enough fans. Nevertheless the show will be staged there as Kohler believes his prestige is at stake and would receive a setback if some other promoter had signed the Champion and he (Kohler) was therefore determined to sign him.

The Mighty Atlas believes his "Atlas Nelson" hold is powerful enough to down the Champion and for that reason he is very elated for the chance of meeting the crown bearer. Lou has held the title since 1948 when he won it from "Wild Bill" Longson. He is ripe to be defeated, especially when he wrestles an opponent of the caliber of The Mighty Atlas. The match is to a two out of three fall verdict with a sixty minute time limit.

An outstanding Australian tag team match has been added to the banner show. Rudy Kay and Al Williams are to meet Walter Palmer and Billy Goetz in a sixty minute encounter. Palmer and Goetz comprise one of the cleverest tag teams in action today. They have the shrewdness and craft to outsmart the rugged Kay and Williams. Sail-

SHORT STORY

Wrong
And Right

By Richard H. Wilkinson

OF COURSE it was wrong for Johnny to kiss her and it was right for Jinny to slap his face. They stood there with the desk chair between them, staring at each other for a full moment. Jinny recovered first. She turned away and walked to the door with her head high and went out.

3-Minute
Fiction

Johnny sighed and sat down at his desk. He was amazed and disgusted with himself. Ten minutes ago he had been the practical executive. He had rung for his secretary, Miss Alyne, and a girl with titian colored hair and blue eyes had appeared instead.

"I'm Jinny Allison," she explained matter-of-factly. "Miss Alyne is ill today and I'm taking her place."

She had stood looking at him from the other side of the chair, and without saying a word he had reached out and pulled her toward him and kissed her, and she had slapped his face.

Sitting at his desk Johnny wondered why he hadn't noticed Jinny Allison before. She must be new, he told himself. He gestured angrily. What a fool he'd made of himself.

"I'm Jinny Allison," she explained matter-of-factly. "Miss Alyne is ill today and I'm taking her place."

He didn't believe in mixing business with—well, with things like that. And, he told himself fiercely, he wasn't going to begin now. Miss Allison would have to be dismissed. He couldn't have a girl around whom he'd kissed and who might think of him as—well, in that way.

He stood up, grimly determined. The matter had better be attended to at once. Half way to the outer office he stopped short. Suppose Miss Allison had already quit? Probably she had. The possibility that this might be the case brought on a sense of panic. He rushed to the door and opened it, was vastly relieved to discover a titian-colored head bent over a desk close by the door.

He went back to his own desk. Well, she hadn't quit and he wouldn't fire her. No, he decided to let her stay and ignore her entirely.

During the remainder of the morning he put Miss Allison from his mind. When he had letters to dictate he rang for a stenographer in exaggerated unconcern. And when prim Abby Nathan appeared he told himself he was relieved.

THAT night Johnny went to sleep putting Jinny out of his mind. The next morning he reached the office before nine. At 9:15 he opened the door of the outer office and breathed easy again when he saw that Jinny was at her post. At noon he looked toward her desk on his way out, caught her eye and felt strangely sick when she turned coldly away. During lunch he became pretty grim, admitting to himself that he was making rather a mess of his resolve. Miss Allison would have to go. There was no use, he just couldn't concentrate with her on his conscience. It would solve the whole problem to have her out of his sight.

His first act on reaching the office was to call Miss Nathan and ask her to send in Miss Allison.

Jinny, notebook in hand, entered and stood looking at him from the other side of the interview chair just as she had the day he had kissed her.

"Miss Allison," he began, and stopped. He cleared his throat importantly. "Miss Allison, I've called you in to—to apologize for what happened the day before yesterday."

"Oh," said Jinny.

"I don't want you to think," Johnny went on, scarcely recognizing his own voice, "that I—er—kiss—er—act that way with all—with other stenographers."

"Oh, I don't," said Jinny, her eyes wide.

"In fact," said Johnny, "you're the first one, I mean, well—" He stopped, desperate, panicky, angry. "Miss Allison, you're fired!"

"Oh!" said Jinny.

Johnny gulped. "No, I don't mean that! What I mean is, I can't concentrate unless—unless—we have an understanding. Oh, the devil! That wasn't what I intended to say at all. I mean, Miss Allison, would you like to go out to dinner with me?"

"It might be nice," Jinny agreed.

Prisoners Construct Escape-Proof Prison Perfect in Details

BUPORD, Ga.—An energetic group of Georgia convicts have designed and built a million dollar prison, complete in every detail, but not one of them is desirous of living in it.

Rock Quarry prison was constructed to house 225 of the state's most hardened and incorrigible criminals, and everything from the architect's drawings to the intricate locks were designed by the inmates.

Men with convictions ranging from hog stealing to murder designed and put up the complicated system of locks, built five watch towers and a comfortable home for Warden Ed Clements.

Clements values the new prison at a million dollars. Although it actually cost the state of Georgia but $114,838.25. Already named "Georgia's Alcatraz," the structure is said to be as escape-proof as a jail can be made.

One of the best bricklayers in the country, serving time for burglary, was responsible for the prison's red brick front. Another burglar, doing a 20-year stretch designed the intricate locking system for the solitary confinement cells and installed them, although he had never done similar work before. "I just got interested in it," he said.

The plumbing was installed by a lifer who was a professional on the outside. Thieves and sex criminals performed the complicated wiring jobs.

A murderer did such a good welding job that the warden rewarded him with a transfer to a prison camp near his home.

"It's surprising how many talented men are lawbreakers," Clements says. "Everything was done right the first time."

Quick Thinking Scouts Also Divide the Spoils

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Two Boy Scout friends used a snake bit kit suction pump on Richard Carroll, 13, all the way to the hospital after he was bitten by a pygmy rattlesnake.

Hospital authorities said it helped the boy make a "remarkably fast" recovery.

The boys killed the snake before going to the hospital. Afterward they went back and divided the spoils. Richard Thomas, 12 said with a grin: "Billy (Billy Weaver, 13) got the skin, I got three rattles, and Rickey—he got the bite."

Sight Restored to Man Romp With Children

GLENDAL, Calif.—Some people may frown at the sight of a grown man romping around with children at play—but not Gilbert Sawyer.

Sawyer, 42 year old musician, recently regained his sight after a year-and-a-half of blindness while bouncing around in a backyard romp with his wife's three year old grandson.

Plunged into a world of darkness by an explosion in 1949, Sawyer's vision began to return to him as he stooped to kiss little Michael Humburger, grandson of his wife, Frances, who he met at the Braille institute.

"Suddenly, everything I looked at seemed to smash into my face," he explained it. Later examination by a doctor showed that vision had returned to the left eye only, but there was hope that sight would be restored to both eyes in the near future.

Mr. Clarence H. Albaugh said that blindness had been caused when Sawyer struck his head during the explosion, and a hemorrhage or clot formed in the brain, cutting off the vision.

Sawyer and his wife, who is not blind, celebrated the return of his sight by leaving town on a second honeymoon.

Indian Muslim Resigns Himself to Silence

KUALA, Trengganu, Malaya.—Abdul Rahim, a devout Indian Muslim here, has not uttered a word for the past three years and writes that he won't until he dies.

In reply to a question, he wrote that he took his vow of silence because "Many have sinned by talking so much."

In response to another question as to what she would do or say as a warning should he see a blind man about to fall into a well, he wrote that he would utter two words, "Look out," and then return to his session of silence.

Bouncing Bowling Balls Banned By Judge's Order

CHICAGO—A federal judge here believes that bouncing bowling balls on the apartment floor is just too much to take.

In a suit charging Mrs. Fannie Barone, a landlady, with overcharging rents, tenants testified that she used many ways to try to get them to move.

Understanding Judge William J. Campbell issued a temporary restraining order to stop Mrs. Barone from shutting off the heat, water, electricity and bouncing bowling balls on the floor of her own apartment.

JOIN THE BLOOD BANK! HAVE BLOOD WHEN YOU NEED IT!

The doctors of Lake County have organized a Blood Bank for all. That means that your doctor, who knows how often blood may be life saving, is sponsoring this project for you and your family. Jacob Blumberg's widow and sons have donated funds to finance the Blood Bank in memory of him.

Here's what membership in the Blood Bank means:

1. You promise to give one pint of blood when called—probably once in four years. You never give anything else.

2. You or any dependent will receive as much blood as your doctor needs for you at any time in any hospital in Lake County.

This saves you the job of trying to find friends to give blood when you need it. It saves you from paying $25 or more for a pint of blood. It saves your friends from making embarrassing excuses. It makes certain that there will be plenty of blood of the right kind at the right place at the right time.

Hospital service charges to patients when blood is received totaling $15 will still be necessary for equipment and laboratory work. There is no other financing for members of the blood bank and if you have hospitalization insurance such charges are covered. When you give blood you will be given coffee or milk for refreshment without charge. Neither age nor health bars any applicant from membership, for the Bank is intended to serve all.

No More School Where Mary Broke the Rules

SUDBURY, Mass.—No longer will children study in the little schoolhouse where Mary and her little lamb, whose fleece was white as snow, studied almost 150 years ago. The original "Mary" was Mary Elizabeth Sawyer, born in 1806 in Sterling, Mass., where she attended the little red schoolhouse and became enshrined in the nurseries of succeeding generations.

In 1926 Henry Ford had the building moved intact to his Wayside Inn property at the small town of Sudbury. It was opened to classes.

But officials of the Wayside Inn, Corp., established by Ford to preserve early Americana, announced recently that Mary's school would be closed at the end of the school year and its 17 pupils transferred to the public school system.

There is a tradition that John Roulstone, one of the older pupils incited to "laugh and play" by the lamb in school, remembered the incident and wrote the verse. On the other hand, it is attributed to Sarah Josepha Hale (1790-1879) by Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations."

Postal Receipts Reveal Growth of Small Town

MIDDLEBURY, Vt.—The growth of a small town was revealed recently by postal receipts at the Middlebury post office.

The sale of stamps for the months of January and February of 1898 amounted to $793.90. For the months of January and February, 1951, receipts amounted to $9,275.87.

At the time President William McKinley appointed a postmaster for Middlebury in 1898, the town had a population of 3,045, plus a student enrollment of 150 at Middlebury College. Today the population of Middlebury is slightly more than 4,000 and there are 1,200 students at Middlebury College.

Stair Hazards
Basement stairs will be less hazardous if they are covered with a non-skid material. A durable covering for this purpose is Masonite quarter-inch tempered hardboard, nailed with its screen side up. This is the flooring that withstood the millions of footsteps of Chicago World Fair visitors.

Sandpaper Sagacity
Before using new sandpaper, rub two pieces together to remove coarse grains of sand. Never tear sandpaper. Cut it. Where rough paper has been used, always follow up with a fine sanding. Use only the finest sandpaper between print coats.

Rural Churches

Members Go to Small Towns

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Persons in Kentucky's farming areas are becoming less able to support rural churches and schools because of a population decrease, a rural sociologist believes.

Dr. James Brown, a University of Kentucky professor said many Kentuckians "are going to town." He offered proof that three-fourths or more of the incorporated towns of 1,000 or more have gained in population in the last ten years.

Speaking to the 14th annual Rural Leadership Institute, the professor said that the shift would bring a resultant rise in the standard of living, a growing healthy trade dependence and a satisfying "sense of belonging" due to an increasing sharing of schools, churches, organizations and businesses by town and country people.

Dr. Brown said that migration rather than a lowered birth rate was accountable for the low rate of gain in Kentucky's overall population.

Small Town Banker Gives His Community Its Electric System

PRYOR, Okla.—Banker W. A. Graham, nearing the age of 100, is a wealthy, prominent, and unusual citizen of this eastern Oklahoma resort town of 4,000 persons.

Graham, an unusually active man for 90 years, has a personal fortune valued at several million dollars. Any Pryor citizen will tell you, however, that he has a heart as big—or bigger—than his credit rating.

Sometime ago Graham suggested that the town acquire its own electric system from a private utility and backed up the recommendation with a $100,000 cash donation.

In explaining his philanthropy to Mayor Earl Ward, he said only, "I had some money I didn't have any use for." Later, however, he gave more humane explanation. "I've made my money here. The people have been my customers. I want to give them back some of it."

Pryor voters came through by approving $150,000 in bonds to match Graham's donation. When several nuisance suits threatened to block the project, the banker bought up the entire stock issue and then gave it back to the town gratis, and the deal went through.

Although no churchgoer, Graham has made numberless donations to local churches. He consistently supports the public library, and has been known to make payment on assessment against homes of widows unable to meet mortgage payments.

But, he is still not a "soft touch." He doesn't lend money to those he feels will not be able to repay.

Graham's rise in the business field is a prime example of what a small town businessman can accomplish with the proper know-how. He was a country school teacher in his home state of Georgia before he went to work for a flour mill at $25 a week. Nine years later he owned a third interest in the concern.

His first business in Pryor was in a general store partnership with a Cherokee Indian. He became a banker after statehood.

An employee once asked Graham how he managed to amass his fortune.

"Young man," he replied, "Do you know how fast money multiplies at 6 per cent?"

Ashes of Buddha
Gautama Buddha, at his death about 430 B.C., was cremated with great ceremony. Tradition says that his ashes were divided in eight parts and distributed as sacred relics, thus giving the founder of Buddhism many monumental mounds.

Napalm Bomb Returns Fire Use To Battle Fronts

While incendiary warfare dates back to the time of the Greeks and Persians, interest in the use of fire in battle waned and was not revived until World War II when the United States Army developed napalm, a jelled gasoline which now is being used with deadly effect in Korea.

Chinese Communists who have witnessed the holocausts wrought by napalm bombs dropped on them from American planes, can hardly be expected to give thanks for this chance development which came when U.S. pilots during World War II related how partly filled gasoline tanks which could be jettisoned easily were ignited by tracer ammunition.

The United States Army research into the development of a thickened gasoline began during the summer of 1941, shortly before the U.S. entered World War II. One of the major obstacles to using petroleum products as incendiary agents was the low viscosity of those petroleum products which possessed the vapor pressure required to insure ignition. After much experimentation, a gasoline thickener was worked out.

"Jellies" Gasoline

The new substance was the now well-known napalm. Its name is from the mixture of "nap" for naphthenic acids and "palm" for coconut fatty acids. Gasoline took on a "jelled" form when this substance was applied to it.

First use of napalm was in flame-throwers. An M-1 portable flame thrower was standardized in August of 1941, and several mechanized type flame throwers were developed during the early part of the war.

At first, there was a lack of interest in the new development, but a change of attitude came in December, 1942, when Marines resorted to a portable flame thrower on Guadalcanal after repeated failures to neutralize a Japanese bunker through other means. The success that followed in taking other bunkers is a well-known part of the history of the Pacific warfare.

Add Igniters

Following this spectacular success, the improvised fire bomb consisting of a partially filled gasoline tank ignited by tracer bullets came under scrutiny. It was improved by using thickened gasoline to provide better target effects, and by the addition of white phosphorus-filled igniters which functioned on impact with the ground.

During World War II, gasoline tanks holding 165 gallons usually were used as bomb casing, and approximately 37,000 such bombs were dropped. First of the napalm bombs were used in air strikes on Tinian in the Marianas on July 22, 1944, and six months later, in the Philippines, U.S. Army planes dropping as much as 100,000 gallons of napalm a day.

Now, again, fire is falling on the enemy, this time in the form of standards, specifically designed, napalm anti-personnel bombs. With this new weapon, direct hits are not necessary, for the mixture spreads to an area larger than that affected by the burst of a high explosive bomb. Its searing gel burns off the natural cover, penetrates the slits of pillboxes, and cooks enemy gunners in a fiery inferno.

One 'B' Made in College Proves Student Human

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohio State university recently graduated the perfect student. Perfect, that is, except for 1/100 of a point.

Only 1/100 of a point separated Lee V. Gossick from perfection through five years of stiff college work. Perfection at Ohio State would be a grade average of 4 points. Gossick, married, and the father of two children, graduated with an average of 3.99—which means that he passed all of his courses with a grade of A, with one exception. Somewhere along the route he picked up a B.

Long Missing Viola Returned to Owner

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Twenty years ago, violinist Giuseppe Vanni lost a treasured 250 year old viola that had been given to him by his father when he was a lad of 14 in Italy.

One night in 1929, shortly after Vanni arrived in this country, the valued viola disappeared. He went to the police, but they were unable to find it.

Last October the now 61 year old Vanni, a city center opera violinist, noticed a viola in the hands of a player beside him. Vanni recognized it as his.

He returned to the police. After a five-month investigation during which the viola was traced through numerous sales, Police determined that it belonged to Vanni. He cried for joy as he got it back.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice of Proposed Change in Electric Schedules
PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS hereby gives notice to the public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on June 14, 1951, a new schedule of rates for electric service, Schedule E-3.

On December 15, 1950, Western United Gas and Electric Company and Illinois Northern Utilities Company were merged into Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. The seven schedules for electric service as in effect prior to the merger were continued in effect after the merger as schedules of Public Service. The proposed new schedule will replace portions of these existing schedules as the first step in the Company's plan to develop one schedule which will apply to the entire territory now served by Public Service. By this filing certain similar rates and riders now appearing in various existing schedules are consolidated in the new schedule. This filing makes no change in charges. Minor changes in text are made for purposes of standardization.

Further information with respect thereto may be obtained either directly from this Company or by addressing the Secretary of the Illinois

Commerce Commission at Springfield, Illinois.

A copy of the proposed change in the schedules may be inspected by any interested party at any business office of this Company.

Lincoln Myths
Many myths cling to Abraham Lincoln, the chief among them being that his monument-tomb at Springfield, Illinois, is empty. A plot to rob the tomb was uncovered in 1876.

Lincoln's Whiskers
Abraham Lincoln obviously recog-

since he grew his famous beard in 1860, the year of his first presiden-
